KLOVE is my personal lifeline to the Christian community. I do not have a church so I depend on KLOVE for inspirational music and uplifting information. The Christian community in Colorado NEEDS this type of broadcasting. With all other secular types of music, this is very important to the Christian community. My kids/grandkids need this departure from terrible influences of secular music and poor values and declining morals.